The Amp-U-Pod from TRS supports a 35 mm camera and video cameras. It can adapt to any camera equipped with a standard tripod mount receiver. It has a lockable tripod mount, which means the user can take pictures at many angles. The Amp-U-Pod fits directly onto the prosthesis, in place of a standard terminal device.

Secure your camera to just about anything – including your artificial arm by using a GorillaPod. Unlike traditional tripods, GorillaPods have flexible, gripping legs, which can wrap around almost any surface. They are small, lightweight and very portable. GorillaPods are available through photography stores and online at joby.com.
